SLOWCOACH TYPHOON STILL WENACE TO HK

Severe blow expected here this morning STORM MAY PASS WITHIN

The 'slowcoach' typhoon, which for two days has been dawdling in the South China Sea some 200 miles from Hong Kong after creating havoc in Northern Luzon, was, at latest reports early this morning, some 170 miles South East of Hong Kong, moving West North West or North West at eight knots.

the typhoon persists in its present course and speed—which is likely to increase—it is expected to pass about 50 miles South of Hong Kong some time this morning.

Probably one of the slowest-moving typhoons ever recorded, the freak storm (which is of considerable intensity) disrupted Hong Kong's air and shipping services and commercial life yesterday despite the fact that no winds of high velocity were experienced all day.

FREES CHINESE SHIP

After being detained by the Chinese Nationalist Navy at Takao for more than five months, the 2,688-ton Chinese freighter Chong Ya was released against a ransom paid by the owners to the Nationalists.

When the ship arrived in port late on Tuesday afternoon, officers and crew members were all reluctant to discuss their experience during the past five months. Captain W. A. Fenwick, British master of the ship, refused to see the Press when approached.

The Company refused to reveal the exact amount of the ransom, but added that the money was in the nature of payment for the food supplied by the

Nationalists to the crew and the ship's maintenance fee during the five months under detention.

The Company also did not

United Nations victory in Korea may mean fuller stomachs for the rice-eating peoples of Asia, Europe and the Caribbean, especially those dependent on the United States, experts here believe.

The world rice supply and demand, are in such delicate balance, these experts say, that bad weather or war in another Asian rice bowl might yet make them change their diet or tighten their belts during the coming year.

Before the Reds swept down across the 38th Parallel, agricultural South Korea was forecasting the biggest rice crop since the war. The Republic expected to feed everyone at home and have about 200,000 tons left for export, probably to Japan, according to Mr. Harry Clowes, of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organisation. The war reversed this outlook. Red occupation raised the prospect of tapping the world's already tight rice supply to feed the millions of South Korean refurces who fled their paddies and crowded into the United Nation Pusan beachhead. The United States, deeply com mitted in Koren and a major rice 'exporter, would be counted upon' for a good deal-of emergency, rice. This, in turn, would mean rice at home and in Puerto Rice or less United States rice Cuba, Indonesia, Japan, Venezuela, Conada, Belgium an 'Greece, which took' the bulk. 1,100,000,000 pounds of rice

the United States exported during the year ended July 31. The harvest-time recapture: Korea's rice fields appears likely to dispel, or at least minimise this threat. Reports from Kores

U.S. harvest

Mr. Ellis forecast the 1950 United States harvest, begun in early August and about twothirds over, at about 3,623,700,-000 paints of rough rice. He said: "It is too early to calculate the surplus, but there will be a ready market for every grain of it. The cituation is a bif

IRAN, UNDER RUSSIAN PRESSURE, FACING A DECISIVE PERIOD

Teheran, October 3. America's patchwork barrier against the spread of Communism is bulging under Russian prossure on ancient Iran. Western diplomats here think the next year will be decisive: either the frail barrier will be bolstered by U.S. economic and military ald, or it will break down to give the Soviets influence or outright control over Iran's rich oil resources and a gateway to the Indian Ocean.

REDS GAIN IN FINLAND

Helsinki, October 3. Communists recorded the largest gains in the Helsink local government elections, according to the preliminary figures issued this morning.

Liberals also advanced while all other parties made a poorer showing than during the 1947 local elections.

Communist aggression in Korea, has, caused uncusy speculation whether Iran will be the next to get the Kremun's attention. Today the odds look good for the West in Iron. But it is going to take more than good-intentioned words of friendship and sympathy to keep nervous Iraninns in the anti-Soviet camp. Russian propaganda has been getting a receptive car from some Iranians who complain. American economic help has not got past the talking stage in the last five years. These same Iranians overlook the fact that mey have largely themselves to blame for lack of U.S. aid in the past.

Until two months ago, Iran had such corrupt and inefficient govwith 1947 figures in ernments that the U.S. State Department declined to recommend expenditure of funds here on the ground that it would be wasted. This was like the U.S. policy in graft-ridden China, which finally fell to the Communists.

New road

Iran is finally taking a different road, however. Last July young Shah Mchammed Reza, realising that declining living standards were making Iran ripe for Communism, appointed as Prime Minister a go-getting efficient Army officer, General All Razmara. To take the Premiership, General Razmara resigned his post as Army Chief of Staff. General Razmara issued decrees cutting the price of bread, meat and ten in a move to woo popular support. He shook the traditional type of Perslan politician—mainly wealthy landowners—out of the Cabinet and installed younger, men reputed to be more hardworking and honest. He cased: foreign exchange controls in an effort to increase production and

But, more important to the West's "containment, of Communism" policy, is the fact that General Razmara is the first Iranian Premier since the war to enjoy whole-hearted American confidence. First result of this new support has been the despatch of an Investigation group from the Export-Import Bank in Washington to pass on applications for leans to revive the country's agriculture and industry. Iranian leaders are talking in terms of credit ranging from $50,-000,000 to $100,000,000. But intormed American sources say the first loans for purchase of such things-as well-drilling-equipment road building machinery and spare parts for run-down industrial plants will be much lower-probably in the neighbourhood of $25,000,000.

"Only a beginning This is regarded only as a beginning, however. This country is to receive "a portion of the $27,000,000 approprinted for aid to Koren, the Philippines and Iran this year President Truman has requested a further allocation of $193,000. 000 for military aid to Iran, Turkey and Greece next year. Britain, which controls the rich Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., stelds on the Persian Gulf, also may land some badly-needed financial as-

But almost all of this aid will not materialise until next year, at the soonest. In the meantime, Russin has increased propaganda by offering to conclude a trade barter deal-at the same time prooring at talk of Anglo-American help.

The number one fact of polltidal life in Tran-Is that a powerful heighbour is poised on the country's Northern border. Thus there is at all times a strong incentive to "get along" with the 'Soviet

War unlikely

Whether this desire to "get along" will lead to the road of appeasement and eventual Soviet control depends on events in the next few months, Western diplomnts here believe.

Of course, there is always the constant possibility of a Russian invasion of Iran. But most Informed people here, iranians ias well as Western idiplomats, on a full-scale world war.

For the last five years the Russians have been using much chenper and for less risky tacties: By merely keeping troops on the border, and making hiternately threatening and conciliatory gestures, they have indirectly pushed Iran's 'economy' near 'the breaking point. If they push far enough, pro-Communist elements in Iran can follow the familiar Red tactics of picking up the pieces and forming a new Soviet satellite.

It works this way. Because of the constant Russian threat people of wealth in Iran are afraid to invest their money in improving farming and industry. If the Russians moved in they would lose their investment.

Instead they ship their money out of the country, to Paris or London or New York.

Modern scientific farming and large-scale irrigation is unknown except in a few isolated instances. Private investors would not put their money in industrial plants unless they are sure of exorbi tant profit that will return their money in three or four years.— Associated Press.

Communism failure in Near East

Washington, October 3. Supreme Coutt Justice William O. Douglas sees no signs of Communist gains in the Middle and Neor East where he made a two months tour. Justice Douglas said today: "Communism has very little appeal to those people—all of them neighbours of Russia.

Details of what goes on inside the Russipetis' modest building in Rome's Pinzza of Jesus are hidden behind polite but firm refusal to discuss the organisation.

"Too many false things have been said about us," a priest said. "We do not seek attention."

But it is established that the Russipeti care training, ias they have for many years, selected Jesuit priests for the "certain to come" apostolate in Russia and other countries now closed to the Catholic Church.

The Communist Press now and again attacks the Russipeti. It tharges that the Jesuits are plotting a revolution inside Russia and other countries. A Vaticah nuthority/sold:"You might call it a revolution if one means by that a spiritual counter-revolution."

When Francis Cardinal Spollman, Archbishop, of New York, visited Rome earlier in the Holy. Year, a visit to the Russipeti. school touched off new Communist charges—that the Jesuits were being directed by U. S. "Imperinilists" in a plot-sgainst Communist governments.

Russipetl's background, however, undicates that the cutire molive for the unusual organisation is found in the Catholic Church's unswerving belief that it must provail against fall enemies that even Russia must some day welcome Catholicism and that when that uny comes, a corps of specially trained priests must be ready to take up missions there.

HALF PEACE, HALF WAR

"unconfirmed Hong Kong reports" that the Chinese Fourth Field Army, commanded by General Lin Piao, has crossed the Yalu and entered North Korea. Taipeh told us all about that weeks ago, with reminders at intervals, in the comprehensible but none too pious hope that some good might accrue. Only two days ago Taipeh repeated the story, but this time with a good deal hedging, and the local Kuomintang paper published it. QUALITY-CONTROL TECHNIQUE FOR WELDING ELECTRODES

Quality-control techniques of appropriate types are widely employed in a number of Britain's manufacturing and engineering industries to assure that a uniform, high standard of quality is maintained in the ultimate products. Some of the techniques are extremely complex in order to guarantee the desired control in intricate manufacturing pro-different slag characteristics are required, and these, as well as the composition of the weld nietal are controlled, provided that the quality of the wire remains constant, by the homogeneity and composition of the conting.

Raw materials

It will be seen, therefore, that the primary requirement in electrode manufacture is uniformity of quality of the raw materials. All core wire is purchased to rigid specifications. In the case of mild steel these have beer compiled after long experience of the qualities required, and usually after close collaboration with the research sections of the steelmaking industry.

In view of the varying quality of scrap used in steel manufacture and of different steelmaking the ends of the core wires after techniques it is now generally re- thrying and in some cases of using cognised that the analysis of mild conting ingredients to give dissteel casts for carbon, manganese, tinctive colours. sulphur, phosphorus, and sillicon, attention has been paid hot-cracking tendency of steel weld deposits and a test has been devised, by means which it is now possible to detect quite small differences in hot-cracking tendency between different casts of wire.

It is therefore now routine practice to make test batches of electrodes on every cast of wire and submit them to hot-cracking tests.

The main trends in Britain's overseas trade during Nie first seven months of this your hove been continued expansion in both imports and exports, with import prices vising approximately twice cus fast as export prices. Exports to the Western Hemisphere have risen, while imports from that area have fallen.

The steady drive towards the closing of the dollar gap is also reflected in changing trade with the sterling area: an increase in imports and co falling-off in exports.

High prices put the brakes on buying in the stock market today and brought on a setback of a few cents to more than a dollar a Bliare. A number of leaders afood out against the trend, however, and maintained gains of as much ms a dollar or more. The market closed on Monday the opening today, it extended slightly shorter wheel base Will parade.

But profit-taking from appeared and I hacked away at those prices. By the end of the second hour most of the plus signs had been erased or cut back considercased. There were three main causes for market action cited by brekers - profit-taking, renewed North Korean resistance, and ferorts of heavy pay intrease demands planned by steel workers on the eve of the meeting of tho wage policy committee in Atlantic City.

Transfers were about 2,500,000 sicola, Loews, General Motors.

League Cricket:

PROSPECTS OF DURING 1950--51 SEASON

Saturday, October 7, will mark the commencement of the 1950/51 First Division League Cricket Competition proper.

Most of the leading Clubs have been down to serious practice and one cannot help speculating and assessing the relative strength and merits of the different teams.

and practices to date, although Kermani and Dodge, with the extremely early in the season, it later help of Percy Smith. would appear that the general standard of cricket this season. The "Killer" instinct will be rather better than that of lhe last year.

One cannot help drawing comparisons and probably the bes yard stick with which to measure the merits or demerits of the different teams, is last year's results. There (a avidence everywhere of intense keenness and a desire to really get down to things. 'Of last year's champions in the First Division, the Hong Kong Cricket Club "Scarpions", it looks rather significant that L. F. Stokes scored 31 out of his side's total of 72, indeed a very fine effort. Also well to the fore at thi early stage in the season, is R.

With the backbone of last year's leam, there is every reason sliphose that the "Scorpions" will do equally well this year, for they have a very wise mixture of experlence and youth, having one of the most important things in oficket, a good leader, who is Whôleliéartedly backed up by keenness and ability. Probably one of the strongest rivals to the "Scorpions" will be the Army, who rather disappointed last season.

Although possessing only four of last year's regulars, they will nevertheless be a force to be reckoned with. Of last year's a complement the bowling department Coffield remains and on shoulders of probably the fastest bowler in the Colony, quite a lot will-depend:

Wilson and Chamier of batsmen remain, while in Halg is a bataman-wicket-keeper of no mean performance.

A Hampshire Hog, he attacks the bowling in this usual precocious manner, as well as instilling a feeling of insecurity to the . incoming butsman, in his capadity as wicket-keeper.

· Army note have lairendy been held and despite the calls of the Services in Korea and elsewhere, there is abundant evidence of decided talent.

I'am unable to give any specific names, this would prejudice trials. Army cricket is in hands of Major K. H. S. Wilson who will surely have a difficult job sifting from this galaxy of potential players.

This offsets the loss of Cullen Pearce and Tomlin who have gone home and McKenzie, who is playing hockey.

Heartoning teature

On the batting slide the Army will undoubledly be stronger, and remembering , its final match brainst the RAF, last eyear, this will be a heartening fonture to its supporters. On the other hand the bowling -la an unknown ggrapffyit which time and practice alone will re-
